Special Offer — Art Commissions

Commission a work of art created through a conversation with the artist, tailored to your preferences, space, and intended purpose.

Balkan Art Market connects prospective buyers with artists who accept commissions. You can suggest a subject, dimensions, technique, or material, describe the space for which the work is intended, and specify your budget and preferred timeframe.

The artist will consider your proposal and the possibilities for bringing it to life within their artistic expression and working practice.

Tell Us What You’re Looking For

You can commission artwork for your home, business premises, collection, or as a gift. If you already have an artist in mind, please provide their name. If you need help choosing an artist, describe the kind of work you are looking for.

Your inquiry should ideally include:

- The subject or central idea;
- The type of artwork and preferred technique or material;
- Approximate dimensions;
- The intended space and purpose;
- Your estimated budget;
- Your preferred timeframe and delivery location.

You may attach photographs of the space or visual references to help communicate your vision.

A Conversation with the Artist

BAM checks whether the selected artist accepts commissions and whether your proposal can be realised. If you have not yet chosen an artist, we will consider artists whose work aligns with your interests and requirements.

Through discussion, the characteristics of the artwork and the scope of the commission are agreed upon. Visual references help communicate your preferences, while the final solution is developed in accordance with the agreement and the artist’s individual approach.

Proposal and Commission Confirmation

Before confirming the commission, you will receive a written proposal outlining the agreed artwork, price, any additional fees, timeframe, and payment and delivery terms.

If the process includes a sketch, composition proposal, or other preparatory stages, their scope, costs, approval process, and number of included revisions will be defined in advance.

Submitting an inquiry does not constitute a commission. The proposal will explain how the commission is confirmed and the conditions under which work begins.

Creation and Revisions

How the progress of the work is communicated will be agreed upon according to the type of artwork and the artist's working process.

Requests that change the previously approved subject, dimensions, materials, or other characteristics of the artwork will be discussed with the artist. Any resulting changes to the price or timeframe must be confirmed in writing before the requested modifications are carried out.

Delivery and Usage Rights

Collection, delivery, and any installation of the artwork will be agreed upon in advance. Any accompanying documentation will be specified in the proposal and contract.

Commissioning or purchasing an artwork does not automatically transfer all copyright and intellectual property rights. If the artwork is intended for reproduction, advertising, product manufacturing, or any other specific use, please mention this in your inquiry so that the relevant rights can be addressed in the contract.

Terms for Personalised Artwork

For artwork created according to a buyer's specific requirements or clearly personalised, a legal exception to the right to withdraw from a distance purchase without giving a reason may apply. The buyer will be informed of this before confirming the commission.

This exception does not limit the buyer's rights if the artwork fails to meet the agreed specifications or if other contractual obligations are not fulfilled.

Submit an inquiry for a commissioned artwork.